Dr. Jacob Martinson

Graduates adorned with their honors and regalia parade past waiting parents and friends.

Dr. James Stitt leads the commencement processional as we (again) celebrate outdoors on the Roberts Hall lawn.

Years ago I became acquainted with Richard Salmon. I never knew him personally, but I became acquainted with him through his writings. He was an artist and an author who was greatly influenced by his surroundings in the hunting and fishing country of central Pennsylvania.

Salmon tells of a hunting dog in the woods, an English setter whose tail is all tangled with dock burs. When we see such things our first reaction is to pull the burs off the tail: but in reality, this beautiful dog is performing a very useful task, the task of transporting seeds that were made to stick on dogs and other animals so they would be transported across the fields and throughout the woods. The dog and his burs are all a part of a giant plan; so are we.

You the class of 1999 are here for a purpose and you will leave here as part of that giant plan. Before the foundation of the world, God had a plan for your life and mine. That is how important we are! May you find your part in that plan, and fulfill it as God enables you to do so, and may you be truly blessed in the process.

With highest regard,

Quit c. cecuranian

A Profile of the University

igh Point University is a four year liberal arts university which offers over 40 academic majors. Degree programs include Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Master of Business Administration, and Master of Science. Enrollment tops over 2,700 with both daytime and evening degree students on the main campus in High Point and the satellite campus in Winston-Salem.

The University was founded as High Point College in 1924 by the United Methodist Church in association with the city of High Point. In 1991 the Board of Trustees voted to change the name from College to High Point University.

Today the University is headed by President Jacob Martinson and boasts of over 30 buildings and 140 faculty members. The University has been listed in the US News and World Report as a Top Ten Southern Liberal Arts college (1999).

Senior Gavin Magaha gleams with pride as he makes his way to graduation.

Getting Settled In

The Student Orientation Staff Eases Transition

Wendy Cannady (Sec. to the VP of Internal Affairs), Dr. Vance Davis (VP for Academic Affairs), Dr. Jake Martinson (President), and Dr. Morris Wray (VP of Internal Affairs) wait alongside the Student Orientation Staff to welcome parents and new students.

Have a Coke and a smile. The Orientation crew provides free sodas for the much-needed breaks on Move-In Day.

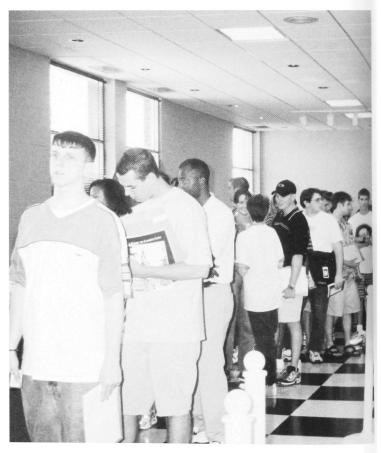

Justin Wood and Nicole Tarrantino jockey for the use of the bullhorn while helping direct crowds and answer questions.

Student gather at the Slane Great Room to have their ID's made, year-book photos taken, and finish all those last minute details of becoming a student.

Dr. Michael Gaspeny, Steve Koppenhauer, Hardy Koenig, and Todd Carter assist students during registration.

Traffic Coordination is one major division of the Student Orientation Staff along with Testing, Activities, and Food Service.

The Activities SOS staff (lead by Chad Fritts) is hard at work during the luau.

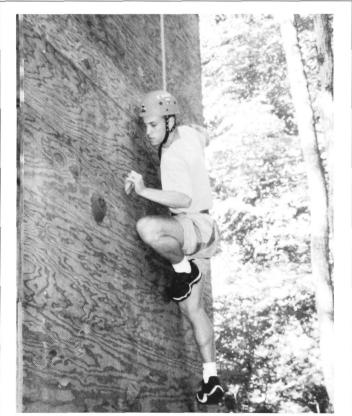

Move-In Day can be overwhelming for new students and their families. The SOS crew of 60 volunteer students assists with every aspect from parking, refrigerator rental, and moving in to free sodas, and carpet sales.

The AD staff and RA staff enjoy a day of teamwork and fun at a ropes course during training.

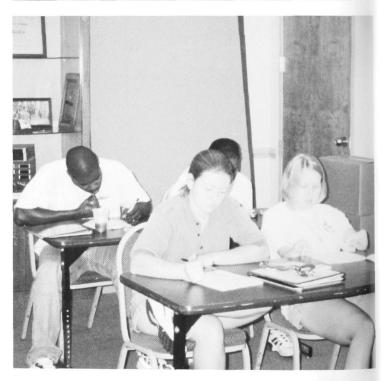

An RA team extinguishes a fire during the fire safety training exercise.

Matt Norman takes on and conquers the wall at the ropes course. The 26 Resident Assistants attend an intensive week-long training program to prepare them for dealing with a multitude of situations and issues. Topics covered include fire safety, responding to emergencies, programs development, time management, etc.

Mindy Wanzie, Pavla Salacova, and Tony Brown study their RA notebooks during the week of RA training.

Resident Assistants

Learning to make students feel safe and at home

Jasheena Moore and Jeannie Bejacmar are primed and ready to take on all the Complex can offer.

Tasha Haskins, Mindy Wanzie, and Heather Bowers pause for a moment during freshman move-in day on August 22, 1998.

Gart Evans, Dean of Students, gets into the spirit of things during an RA luau at his home.

Student Activities

There's more to do than just study!

Old Tyme Photo was a big hit right before Halloween.

Chris Huff recruits more volunteers for an activity set-up.

You Laugh, You Lose comedy gameshow drew a record crowd to the cafe.

SAB sponsored the Fall Activities Fair and provided free sno cones and cotton candy to add to the festive event.

Brynne and Jackie enjoy a moment in the spotlight with the country group DAKOTA.

Deidre Cotilla, Chad Fritts, and Althea Mottas take a break from the luau. Bingo night is alwasy a hit, especially with all the great prizes.

Gene Liauw, Jackie King, Amy Hanshaw, Chris Huff, and Brynne Fisher attended the 1998 National Association for Campus Activities Conference. While there, they reviewed numerous bands, comedians, and variety acts and decided which entertainment to bring to campus.

Jen Schubert, Dawn Eagan, and Leigh Ann Workman (Assistant Director of Volunteer Services) beam after finishing an APO service fraternity event. Lambda Chi Alpha brothers and the Great Pumpkin entertained children from Parkview during the Halloween carnival

Kristy Morrison, Director of Volunteer Services, participates in the Fall Activities Fair. The Campus Connection Volunteer Center is a division of student activities and helps match students to community volunteer opportunities.

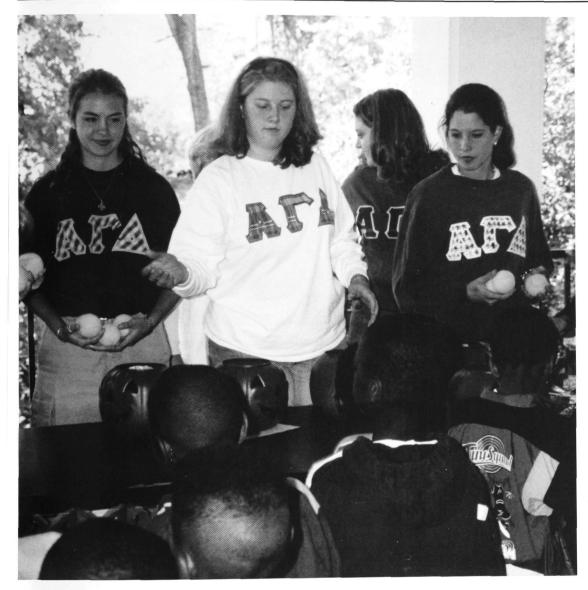

The Alpha Gamma Delta sisters participate in the Juvenile Diabetes Walk For a Cure.

Volunteer Activities

Making the most of every minute by helping others

Cass Arnold, Andrea Avello, and sisters volunteer at the 4th Annual Halloween Carnival.

The High Point community came together with the University students to raise money for Crop Walk Against Hunger.

Lambda Chi Alpha raised over 5,000 pounds of canned food for their charity.

Kappa Chi brothers and Finch RA staff volunteer by participating in the '98 Crop Walk.

International Studies

Here and abroad - living & learning different cultures

Extracurricular Activities

Campus organizations keep students busy

SAB events provide a much-needed outlet for entertainment with fun events like bingo.

Darius Mooring spends some free time playing the piano in Slane Lobby.

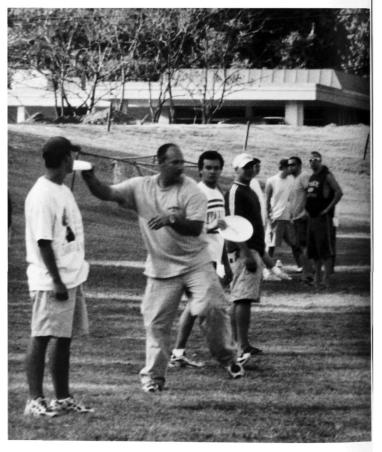

Clubs and organizations provide an atmosphere of fun and fellowship plus leadership opportunities.

Brandon Van Hoose and Jimmy Routh enjoy a round of frisbee golf out on the intramural field.

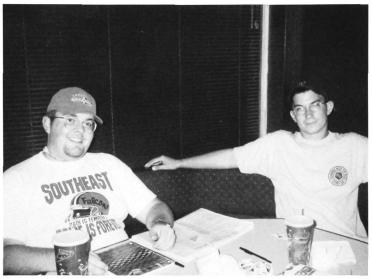

Dr. Martinson and Bishop Thomas Stockton speak with Dr. Norman Christensen (left), the University Arbor Day speaker with the IDS Cultural Events series.

Jennifer Clontz and Sensai Charles Lucas spar during the Tues./Thurs. karate class. Tommy Rich and Bill L'Eplattenier hang out at the Panther Point.

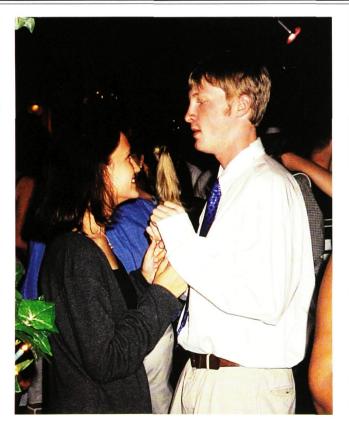

Megan Kovalcik, SGA secretary, programs Channel 8, HPU's own TV channel with the latest program update. SGA purchased the cable channel in the fall to help promote activities and events. In the future, SGA hopes to be able to broadcast movies on this channel.

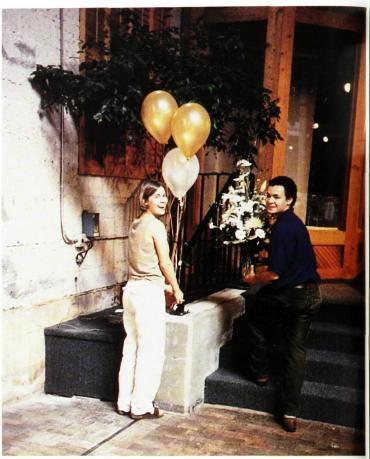

Beautiful ladies gather the show off their evening gowns.

Beth Anne Zimmerman and Jimmy Routh show that setting up can be as fun as the dance.

Couples enjoyed a night of romance during "An Enchanted Evening." Homecoming is sponsored by SGA. A committee of students plan every aspect of the dance, including decorations, ticket and T-shirt sales, and food. This year's dance boasted a record attendance of 850.

Homecoming 1998

Dancing the night away is the order of the evening.

Homecoming Queen Beth Anne Zimmerman and Big Man on Campus (for the 2nd year!) Ben Rooke do a celebration dance together.

Elizabeth Brown and Bill L'Eplatteneir get a little closer.

Queen hopefuls McCullough Caldwell, Jenny May, and Beth Anne Zimmerman wait for the announcement of the Homecoming Queen.

Student lifers Kristy Morrison, Rans Triplett, Ted Sikes, and Katy Brown enjoy being all dressed up.

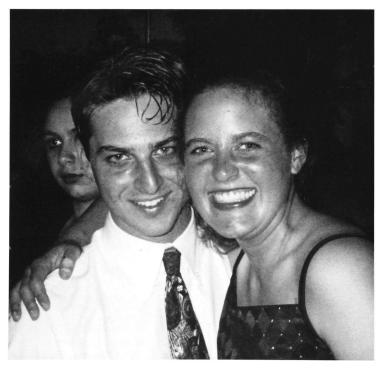

Homecoming Students and alumni celebrate on October 3, 1998

Andrea Dunn, Mykia Matthews, Estalita Gumbs, and Pam Garwacki create a great Homecoming memory.

Goldfinger grabs a minute with a group of gals.

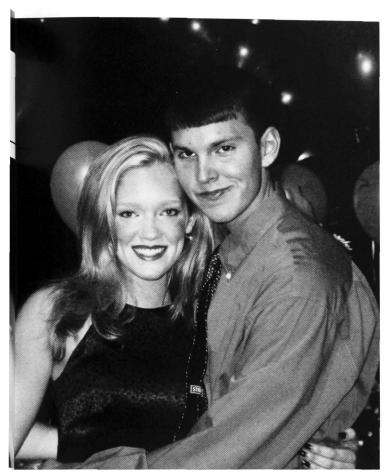

Amanda Isaac and Brandon Keebler enjoy a few minutes off the dance floor.

The Kappa Deltas and the Theta Chis show their Homecoming spirit with their Toga! Toga! float.

Homecoming court candidates gather during the week's activities.

Lwanna Jordan helps Jimmy Routh with his boutonniere.

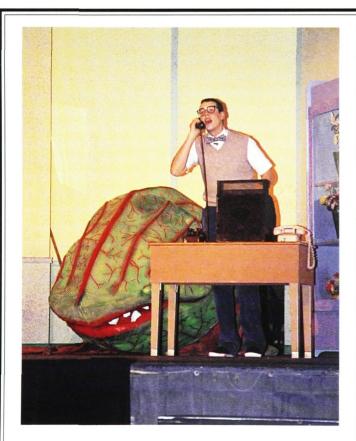

President Dr. Martinson crowns Homecoming Queen Beth Anne Zimmerman. Big Man on Campus was Ben Rooke. The attending court were McCullough Caldwell, Megan Bell, Tara Ebner, Jenny May, Justin Wood, Matt McLendon, Brent Ayers and Jimmy Routh.

Doug Herring as Mr. Mushnik persuades Seymour to become his adopted son.

The Dentist is pleading for Seymour to save him from death by his gas mask.

Seymour (Scott Donley) takes an order at the flower shop as business thrives and as Audrey II looks on. The Little Shop of Horrors, based on the film by Roger Corman, was presented by the Tower Players. The play sold out many nights and was met with acclaim.

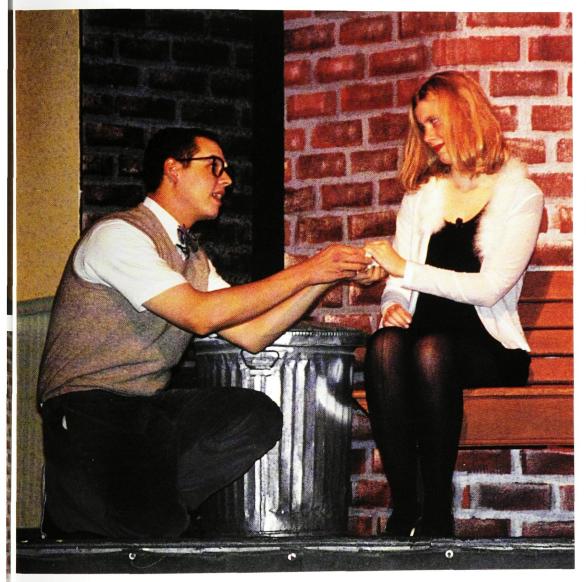

The Do Wop girls hang out.

Little Shop of Horrors

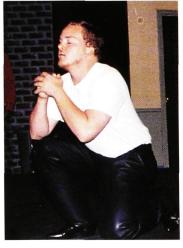

The Tower Players perform November 12-14

Seymour (Scott Donley) and Audrey (Nancy Mayfield) share an intimate moment as he reassures her that she doesn't need the sadistic Orin.

Jason DeCaprio and Daniel Christian work the sound and lights behind the scenes.

Chuck Hayworth as Orin the Dentist.

Jackie Smith, Monica Dowe, Jeannie Bejacmar, and Wendy Lee, the Do Wop girls, back up Orin the Dentist.

Campus Changes Making the University bigger and better

The new apartment building nears its September 30th date of completion.

A new parking lot and lighting were installed to help meet the ever-growing need for more parking.

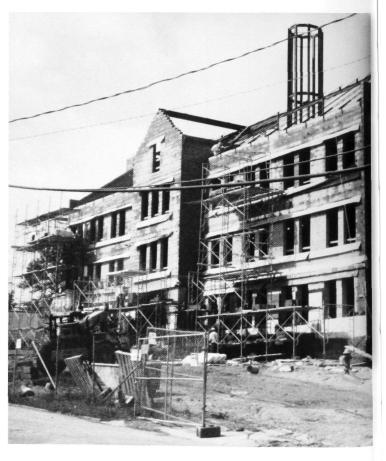

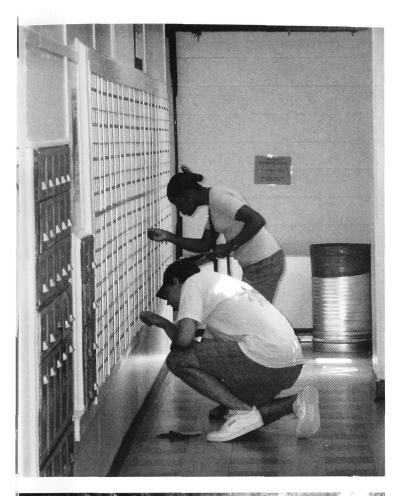

The apartment building will have 12 separate apartments (den, kitchen, 3 double occupancy bedrooms, storage, and separate bathrooms).

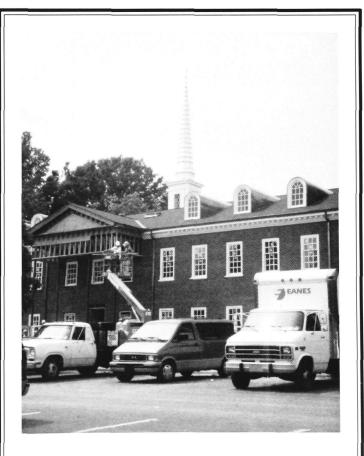

High Point University was chosen to receive a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation to open the Southeast Center for Organizational Leadership. Several colleges vied for the grants and the field was competitive. Dr. Pat Haun will serve as the Center's executive director.

Over 200 new post office boxes were installed adjacent to the old post office to help meet the overwhelming requests.

The University acquired this residence on 806 Sixth Street which houses several men.

David Hayworth Building (adjacent to Hayworth Chapel) was a new addition and added five new classrooms and over 10 faculty offices. It also houses the new faculty lounge.

Students enjoy Thanksgiving dinner sponsored by the International Club.

Panhellenic members place the luminaries for Lessons and Carols - a University Christmas tradition.

Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority raised over $2,000 for charity during their First Annual Halloween dance.

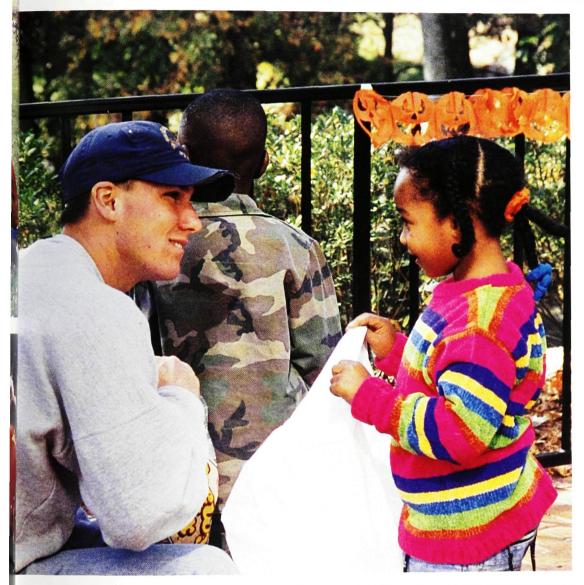

No, it's not the eternal freshman - it's a friendly Troll brought here to entertain the children during the Halloween festival. Children from two elementary schools enjoyed an afternoon of games and candy prizes. Over 40 students volunteered, making it a tremendous success.

Special Times of the Year

The University gets into the holiday spirit

The holidays and volunteering bring out the best in all of us.

Ted Sikes, alias the scarecrow, makes his debut.

Christine Orcutt and Chris Huff juggle Easter eggs while preparing for the Easter Carnival.

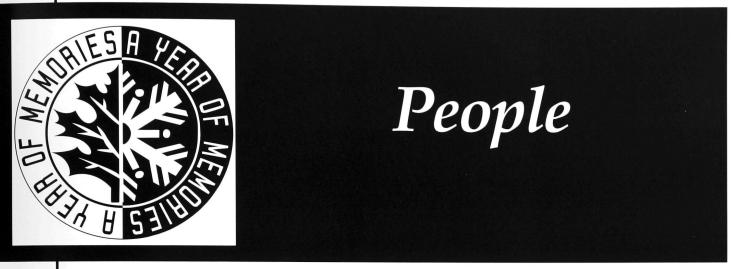

Rans Triplett leads the celebration as the RA's enjoy RA Appreciation Day.

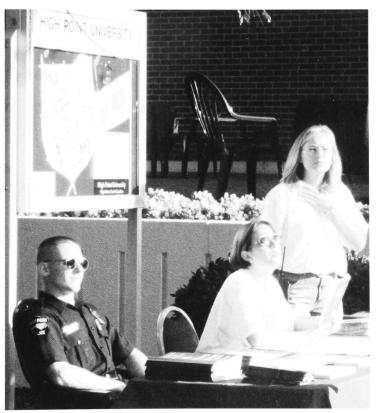

A University is more than a collection of books and buildings. It is a community of people focused on learning and growth.
